Employment Terms & Conditions

Your employment with ENIGROW shall be governed by the following terms. These clauses apply in addition to applicable Indian labour laws, Company policies, and any role-specific guidelines communicated in writing.

2.1 Job Responsibilities

You shall diligently and faithfully perform the duties of {{designation}} in the {{department}} department, and such other duties as may be reasonably assigned by your Reporting Manager, functional head, or the Company from time to time. You are expected to deliver work of high professional quality, meet agreed timelines, support client engagements, maintain accurate records, and uphold ENIGROW's standards of advisory excellence. The Company may modify your responsibilities based on business needs, without adversely affecting your grade or compensation except as mutually agreed or permitted by law.

2.2 Professional Conduct

You shall at all times conduct yourself with integrity, courtesy, fairness, and professionalism — whether interacting with colleagues, clients, partners, vendors, regulators, or the public. You shall not engage in any act that damages the reputation, goodwill, or interests of ENIGROW. Harassment, discrimination, abusive language, or unprofessional behaviour will attract disciplinary action under Company policy.

2.3 Attendance

Regular, punctual attendance is a core condition of employment. You shall mark attendance through the system prescribed by the Company (biometric, digital, or otherwise). Unauthorised absence, habitual late coming, early departure without approval, or job abandonment may be treated as misconduct. Leave must be applied for in advance (except genuine emergencies) and approved as per the Leave Policy.

2.4 Working Hours & Working Days

Your standard schedule shall be {{working_hours}} on {{working_days}}, subject to location and role requirements. Given the nature of consulting and client deliverables, you may occasionally be required to work beyond standard hours, or on weekends/public holidays, with reasonable prior intimation where practicable. Flexible / hybrid arrangements, if any, will be confirmed separately in writing by HR.

2.5 Reporting Structure

You shall report to {{reporting_manager}}, or to such other manager as the Company may designate in writing. You shall follow lawful and reasonable instructions of your reporting chain and cooperate with cross-functional teams. Changes in reporting structure due to reorganisation shall form part of your employment terms upon communication.

2.6 Office Rules & Workplace Discipline

You shall comply with all workplace rules including access control, visitor protocols, IT and cybersecurity guidelines, acceptable use of devices and networks, dress/presentation standards where applicable, and responsible use of Company premises and facilities. Violation of office rules may lead to warning, recovery, or disciplinary proceedings.

2.7 Performance Expectations

Your performance will be evaluated on role objectives, quality and accuracy of deliverables, adherence to timelines, client and internal stakeholder feedback, teamwork, learning agility, and alignment with Company values. Sustained underperformance, despite feedback, may lead to counselling, a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP), role change, or separation as per policy and applicable law.

2.8 KPI Reviews

Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) and goals will be defined for your role and reviewed periodically (typically monthly and/or quarterly, and in an annual appraisal cycle). Review outcomes may influence increments, incentives, training plans, promotions, and continuance of employment. You are expected to maintain transparency in progress reporting and escalate blockers early.

2.9 Training & Capability Building

ENIGROW may provide induction, process training, tools training, and ongoing capability programmes. You shall participate actively and apply learning on the job. For specialised or high-cost external training, the Company may require a separate retention undertaking / bond as agreed in writing.

2.10 Performance Improvement Plan (PIP)

Where performance or conduct falls below expected standards, the Company may place you on a PIP with documented goals, support, and review timelines. Successful completion may restore normal standing. Failure to meet PIP objectives may result in extension of PIP, role realignment, or termination in accordance with policy and law.

Company Policies

The following policy highlights form part of your employment terms. Detailed policy documents / employee handbook will be shared during onboarding and may be updated periodically. In case of conflict, the latest written Company policy and applicable law shall prevail.

3.1 Leave Policy — Overview

Leave is intended to support employee wellbeing while ensuring business continuity. Leave is not an absolute right and remains subject to prior approval (except documented emergencies), team coverage, and client commitments. Encashment, carry-forward, and pro-rata rules shall follow the Leave Policy in force.

● Annual Paid Leaves — 18 Days

You are entitled to Eighteen (18) Annual Paid Leaves in a calendar year, pro-rated for mid-year joining. Leave must be planned and approved in advance. Unavailed leave treatment (carry forward / lapse / encashment) shall be as per the prevailing Leave Policy and applicable law.

● Public Holidays

You shall be entitled to public holidays as per the Company's published holiday calendar for the relevant year and work location. The calendar may differ by state or client-site requirements and will be communicated by HR.

● Sick Leave

Short-term illness may be covered under sick leave as defined in Company policy. The Company may require a medical certificate for absences beyond the threshold stated in policy, or for repeated short absences.

● Medical Leave

Extended medical absence will be handled under applicable Company policy and law. You may be required to submit medical documentation and fitness-to-resume certification before returning to work.

3.2 Attendance Policy

You shall adhere to prescribed working hours and attendance marking. Habitual absenteeism, absence without intimation for consecutive working days as defined in policy, or failure to resume after approved leave may be treated as voluntary abandonment / misconduct and may lead to closure of employment after due process.

3.3 Confidentiality

You shall hold in strict confidence all non-public information relating to ENIGROW, its group entities, clients, prospects, vendors, employees, pricing, strategies, and operations. You shall not disclose, publish, copy, or use such information except as authorised or required by law / NDA.

3.4 Intellectual Property & Company Information Protection

All work product, deliverables, inventions, processes, templates, documents, designs, software, know-how, and materials created by you in the course of employment (alone or jointly) shall be the exclusive property of ENIGROW. You hereby assign all intellectual property rights therein to the Company and shall execute further documents if required. You shall not remove, retain, or misuse Company or client materials after exit.

Protected information includes (illustrative, not exhaustive):

● Company proprietary information

● Client information & engagement data

● Business data, reports & analytics

● Website content & digital assets

● Marketing material & brand assets

● Source code, scripts & tools

● Contracts, proposals & SOWs

● Credentials & system permissions

● Financials, pricing & vendor terms

3.5 Policy Updates

ENIGROW may amend policies, processes, and handbooks from time to time to reflect legal, operational, or business changes. Updates will be communicated via email, HRMS, or intranet. Continued employment after such communication constitutes acknowledgment, subject always to applicable law.

Legal Terms

The following legal terms are binding upon acceptance of this Offer Letter. Where a separate agreement (NDA, employment agreement, or bond) is executed, it shall be read together with this letter.

4.1 Notice Period

Either party may terminate the employment relationship by providing written notice as prescribed in the Company policy applicable to your grade/role, or by payment in lieu of notice at the Company's discretion, subject to applicable law. During the notice period you shall complete knowledge transfer, return assets, and continue to observe all confidentiality and conduct obligations.

4.2 Termination

The Company may terminate employment for reasons including misconduct, material breach of terms, fraud, gross negligence, prolonged incapacity, redundancy or restructuring, unsatisfactory probation, or failure to clear background verification — with or without notice as permitted by policy and law. In cases of gross misconduct, the Company reserves the right to effect summary dismissal after following due process.

4.3 Resignation

Resignation must be submitted in writing (email / HRMS) to your Reporting Manager with a copy to HR. Acceptance is subject to serving the applicable notice period, satisfactory handover, and clearance. Unserved notice may attract recovery of notice pay / costs as per policy, to the extent permitted by law.

4.4 Background Verification

This offer and your continued employment are contingent upon satisfactory background verification covering identity, address, education, prior employment, and other checks the Company may reasonably undertake. Any adverse finding, suppression of material facts, or falsification of documents may lead to immediate withdrawal of the offer or termination without notice.

4.5 Company Assets

All laptops, phones, access cards, software licences, documents, data, and other property issued to you remain assets of ENIGROW. You shall use them only for authorised purposes, keep them secure, and return them in good working condition upon separation or on demand. Loss or damage due to negligence may be recovered as permitted under applicable law and Company policy.

4.6 Non-Disclosure Agreement (NDA)

You agree to execute and remain bound by ENIGROW's Non-Disclosure / confidentiality undertakings. You shall not disclose confidential information to any third party except as authorised or required by law. NDA obligations survive termination of employment for the duration specified therein.

4.7 Non-Compete

During employment, and for a reasonable post-employment period as stated in Company policy or a separate written agreement (to the extent enforceable under Indian law), you shall not engage in competing activity that unfairly exploits ENIGROW's confidential information, proprietary methods, or client relationships.

4.8 Non-Solicitation

During employment and for the post-employment period specified in policy/agreement (enforceable extent), you shall not directly or indirectly solicit Company employees to leave ENIGROW, or solicit Company clients or active prospects with whom you had material dealings, for competing products or services.

4.9 Conflict of Interest

You shall promptly disclose in writing any actual, potential, or perceived conflict of interest, including personal, financial, or familial interests that may influence your duties or decisions. Failure to disclose or managing a conflict improperly may be treated as misconduct.

4.10 Misconduct

Misconduct includes, without limitation: insubordination; harassment; discrimination; violence or threats; theft or fraud; unauthorised data access or disclosure; intoxication at work; wilful damage to property; and serious policy violations. Disciplinary outcomes may include warning, suspension, recovery, or termination.

4.11 Full & Final Settlement

Upon separation, Full & Final settlement — including unpaid salary, eligible leave encashment if applicable, statutory dues, and authorised recoveries — shall be processed after completion of exit formalities, asset return, and clearance, within the timeline stated in Company policy.

4.12 Governing Law & Jurisdiction

This Offer Letter shall be governed by the laws of India. Subject to applicable law, courts at Noida / Gautam Buddha Nagar, Uttar Pradesh shall have jurisdiction over disputes arising out of or in connection with this employment. The Registered / Office Address of the Company
